CONGRESSIONAL HAPPENINGS IN WASHINGTON

By CLARENCE J. BROWN
Member of Congress

While there have been all sorts of rumors floating around Washington that war with Russia is imminent, and no one can question but Russo-American relations are not good at the present time, there is a general feeling here in high official circles that there is little danger of armed conflict with the Soviet Union any time soon. Instead there is a belief that a friendly, but firm, American foreign policy—under which this country stands up for its rights and principles—will result in a better relationship with Russia. There is little question but Communism is on the march over and throughout the world. Here in the United States radical philosophies have been making great headway, while many communists and other radicals have found their way into high government places. One of the beneficial results of recent world developments may be a slowing down of the radical trend and a cleaning up of the government structure here in the United States—both of which are long overdue.

There are many Americans who agree with much Winston Churchill's former Prime Minister of Great Britain, has said in his recent addresses in this country. However, few seem to approve of his suggestion of a "fraternal" alliance between the United States and Great Britain, while most seem to object to his consideration of the fact that Churchill came to America to make his speeches on the Russian situation. The result has been to make the United States, in the minds of the Russians at least, partially responsible for his utterances, and to put this nation somewhat in the position of approving them. Others feel the astute Briton may have selected this country as the sounding board for his statements on Russia—in order to stir up so much controversy in Congress that it is necessary, from a national security angle to approve the loan to Great Britain, as requested by President Truman.

President Truman wisely named Herbert Hoover to become Chairman of the National Economic Emergency Committee and to organize American efforts to provide food supplies for the starving of foreign lands. Within a few hours after the former President took charge things really began to hum. Without use of government regulation, restriction or control, but only through the willing cooperation of our people the success of the program to reduce American use of wheat by forty percent, and fats and oils by twenty percent, already seems assured. Mr. Hoover has left for Europe to study the situation there and to reorganize the distribution of relief supplies.

To those who feel the United States has not been doing its full share in meeting present relief needs in foreign countries, the following facts should be interesting: The United States, as one of the forty-five countries belonging to the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, agreed to 28 percent of the total cost of its operations, while the other 44 nations were to contribute 18 percent. The Congress of the United States has already authorized appropriations of two billion seven hundred million dollars for American participation in UNRRA—and to date this country has actually paid 22 percent of all UNRRA costs, while the other 44 nations have paid but 8 percent. In addition the United States has furnished other nations with some 47 billion dollars worth of Lend-Lease goods, including much food, clothing, and medicine. Many American war supplies in foreign lands, such as food and clothing, have been sold at from 2 to 30 percent of original cost. The Red Cross and many other American relief and charitable organizations are expending huge sums to help the needy of the world. Clothing and food drives in this country have been responded to generously and have been of great benefit in the present crisis. The United States is proving herself to be a good neighbor in peace as well as a strong ally in war. No one should belittle her efforts.

As the hearings in the extension of the Price Control Act, under which the OPA functions, continue before the Banking and Currency Committee of the House, it is becoming more and more apparent that any extension of OPA will be granted only if and after changes in the law, requiring better administration and stopping many of the unsatisfactory practices of that governmental agency, were made. Testimony is being up to prove that OPA regulations have often been so arbitrary and capricious as to not only

ALONG FARM FRONT

E. A. Drake, Co. Agricultural Agent

4-H CLUB COUNCIL TO MEET

John Mount and Eva Kinsey of the 4-H Club department of Ohio State University will meet with the Greene County 4-H Club Council Wednesday evening at 8 P.M. at the Court House to assist in planning the 1946 program.

The county council is divided into four sub-committees: fair and exhibitors, camps, projects and enrollment, and demonstration and judging contests. William Kyle, New Jasper Twp., is chairman and Joe Haines, secretary of the county organization.

YOUNG FARMERS TO DISCUSS ACCIDENT PREVENTION

Farm accidents and their prevention will be discussed by W.E. Stuckey, of the Ohio Safety Council of Columbus, at a county-wide meeting of young farmers at the Court House Assembly Room Wednesday evening, April 3rd. Farm accidents take a terrific toll each year in mangled bodies, suffering, loss of time and money. Approximately 15,000 accidents occur on Ohio farms each year, with farm machinery accounting for about 25 percent of the total. Months of largest number of accidents are June, July and August.

FRUIT GROWERS MEETING

F. H. Beach, extension specialist in horticulture of Ohio State University will meet with fruit growers of Greene County Monday evening, April 15, at the Court House to discuss timely problems.

Mr. Beach who is well known to orchard men of the county will discuss pruning, fertilization and the control of insects and diseases. New insecticides are now available to growers and their use will be explained.

EARLY CHICK ORDERS

Local hatcherymen report that orders for early chicks are coming in well considering the feed shortage and the present low price of eggs. Indications are that prices of good eggs will be satisfactory this summer and fall and most flock owners are starting the usual number of chicks so that they can operate their flocks efficiently.

Spring or later there may be a decrease in egg production, but this decrease will come in the small, inefficient flocks.

FRUIT CROP IN DANGER

Unseasonably warm weather is causing fruit growers no little concern over possible damage to fruit in event of severe frosts similar to those last year. Fruit trees have come out so fast that late frosts can cause severe damage to cherries, peaches, apples and small fruit.

The temperature for the first three weeks of March this year has averaged about 5 degrees higher than the comparable period a year ago, which was also abnormally high. Killing frosts occurred last year during the first and third weeks of April and hard frosts the first two weeks of May.

FRUIT SPRAY BROADCASTS

Because of the rapid bud development the fruit spray service will be broadcast one week earlier than originally planned. The broadcasts will start April 2 over WTAM, Cleveland at 8:45 A.M. on Tuesdays and Saturdays, and over WKBN in Youngstown on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 8:35 A.M.

Broadcasts originally scheduled to start over WLW on March 25 were advanced to March 20, and may be heard on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 8:30 A.M.

4-H SHEEP SHEARING CONTEST

A national 4-H Club sheep shearing contest will be held at the 1946 International Livestock Exposition in Chicago. Two 4-H members from each state may enter. A state contest will be held for members 14-21 years of age. College scholarships and cash awards will be given.

WATER TABLE RISES

Water table observers report the water level in Greene County rose two feet during February. The average for the state was a decline of about seven inches.

The variation in fluctuations among the observation wells is due to the fact that soil and subsurface materials and conditions vary from place to place and rainfall is erratic in its distribution and intensity.

FORMER RESIDENT RETURNS TO CALL ON OLD FRIENDS

Mr. Dan Johnson, who resides near Port Huron, Mich., dropped in town Monday to call on some of his former acquaintances. Mr. Johnson left here in 1905, after being an employee of the Hagar Straw Board & Paper Co. for some time. He was able to find a few former employees but more of them have passed on. Mr. Johnson has a son in Springfield and a daughter in Columbus. His last visit here was in 1932.

COUNCIL DISCUSSES SEWERAGE

Village council met in special session Monday evening with Mr. A. E. Stilson, Columbus, sanitary engineer, who was consulted relative to the disposal plant and extending sewerage lines in the village.

The plans adopted by a former council were discussed and checked by the Columbus engineer. Inasmuch as the village has now had two engineers since the project was first started council must find a way to settle with the former before they can take on a third.

The village legislators discussed various plans and suggestions as to location of the disposal plant and the three leading types of disposal plants. No decision has been reached on any one type of plant.

The matter of location of the disposal plant and how best to proceed were left with members Ferguson and Culbert to make investigation and report at another meeting.

The question of street repair, especially on Xenia ave., was discussed and will be taken up with the State Highway Department that was supposed to keep the street in repair.

Complaints have been received of the condition of the Pennsylvania railroad crossing on Main street and the company was to be notified to keep the crossing in better repair.

Council will meet again on Monday, April 1.

Brown Will Not Resign Seat For Chairmanship

Congressman Clarence J. Brown stated by phone to the Herald Monday evening that he had no intention of resigning his seat in congress to accept the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee. He says he will sit the committee in any way he can, being a member from Ohio, and would assist in part of the campaign work at headquarters, but that he would not accept any salary whatever. He has been suggested as permanent chairman to conduct the campaign at a salary of $50,000 and pay his own expenses, but this did not interest him at this time as he would have to give up his seat in congress and important committee assignments to accept the position.

Many of Mr. Brown's friends in politics in the Seventh District, as well as business men, have been much interested in what he would do. Sentiment expressed to the chairman of the Greene County Republican Committee by scores of businessmen was that Mr. Brown should not give up his seat in Congress where he has been doing a splendid work not only for his constituents in the Seventh District but for the Republican party.

Rep. Harold Knutson, Rep. Minn., has suggested another income tax reduction to check reckless federal spending by the administration. He says five billion should be cut off the nation's tax bill. Cong. Brown issued a statement that he favors a tax cut for the same reason and that the average citizen and farmer should get some relief while the administration continues to increase wages for favored groups.

Blood Plasma For Greene Hospitals

Dr. Harold E. Ray, president of the Greene County Medical society, announces that physicians and hospitals in Greene county will receive life-saving blood plasma, without charge, for civilian medical practice.

The first shipment will consist of 35 units for the McClellan hospital, which has had a bank for a number of years. The gift bank comes through the Red Cross which has been given by individuals for use in the war. Dr. Ray says the use of the blood plasma must be considered as a loan to the individual in need of it and that who ever gets the benefit of it should return blood or have blood donated by a relative or friend.

Auto License Funds Are Distributed

Distribution of $2,312,100 from motor vehicle license fees to counties and municipalities, announced Monday by State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, included $9,111.50 to Greene County and $1,250 to Xenia. Other allocations to villages and townships in this county brought the total to $14,734; Ballbrook, $62.50; Bowersville, $37.50; Cedarville, $125; Clifton, $62.50; Fairfield, $225; Jamestown, $250; Osborn, $750; Spring Valley, $25.50; Yellow Springs, $112.50 and the twelve townships, $5,125.

Xenia Firm Gets Cedarville Lumber Co.

The McFarrell & Torrance Lumber Company, Xenia, has purchased the Cedarville Lumber Company from the Dorothy Wright estate. The new owners got the real estate and the stock. Inventory is being taken of the stock of lumber and hardware and other lines. The firm will be continued as the Cedarville Lumber Company and will be under the management of Mr. Donald Haines, who has been in the employ of the Xenia firm.

The new owners will carry a complete line of lumber and builders hardware. The local sawmill under the ownership and management of the late Mrs. Wright was one of the few lumber firms in the United States that was operated by a woman. Mrs. Wright was an unusual business woman and received national recognition for her success.

Farmers Demand End To All OPA Parity Price Plan

Some seventy-five farmers met in South Salem Monday night demanding that the administration drop all OPA and parity price controls of farm products. The group was composed of farmers from neighboring counties. Strong protest was made against price control of farm products while wages and prices of farm equipment continued to rise.

A similar meeting has been called at Waverly for Friday night when 1,200 farmers are expected to attend. The meeting will be addressed by Howard D. Jewett of Portsmouth, one of the largest producers of corn in Ohio. Mr. Jewett was called to Washington last week to testify before the agricultural committee. He is backing the Price bill that will force the government to include all farm labor as cost of production, not just hired labor. All four of the national farm organizations with several million members are backing the Price bill. President Truman is said to be against it as is the CIO and he may veto the bill if it should pass.

High School Band In Spring Concert

The annual spring music performances of the high school will be introduced this year by a concert by the band.

Thirty players will participate, among them being several alumni of the school.

The concert is scheduled for April 12, at 8 p.m. in the Opera House. The personnel of the band is working with enthusiasm and looking forward to a highly entertaining program and ask for your support in their first full evening program.

The outgrowth of this may mean an enlargement into a summer band which will incorporate players from this and other communities, we hope to have fifty or more players for this band.

The vocal departments are working on their spring festival which will be given the early part of May and will be given space in a later edition of the Herald.

Livestock Producers File Objections

WASHINGTON—A spokesman for livestock producers predicted Tuesday that meat may disappear from markets in some large cities unless price ceilings and subsidies on cattle are removed.

The forecast was made by H. M. Conway, director of research for the National Livestock Producers' Association to the House agriculture committee which is studying meat production.

Conway asserted the present supply of beef is the smallest in history and that beef production "has been forced very largely to a grass basis."

Under existing price controls, he said, "it will continue generally more profitable to market the grains than to feed cattle, hogs and lambs."

Columbus packers have announced discontinuance of beef slaughter until it will be profitable to continue under OPA rules. Monday there was little or no beef in the Arcade meat markets in Dayton. In Cincinnati both beef and butter are off most restaurant or hotel menus.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to relatives, friends and neighbors for their kindness, sympathy and lovely floral tributes received during the recent passing of our husband and father, Forrest C. Fields; and to Rev. Abels for his words of consolation; and the McMillan funeral home for their efficient services.

Mrs. Minnie Fields and Family.

COUNTY HAS INFIRMARY ISSUE UP

Judge Clarence J. Stewart, County of Common Pleas, Dayton, has proposed a seven-county district infirmary to eliminate such institutions in each of the seven counties.

Greene county commissioners have not endorsed the idea due to lack of more information.

Some years ago Greene, Montgomery and Preble counties entered into a compact to operate a joint tuberculosis hospital. The plan worked for a time until the cost of operation was out of reason and Greene county then withdrew and "hired" her tubercular patients to Clark county on a per individual monthly charge for medical care and boarding. The cost has been much lower than under the original scheme.

The county commissioners presented a plan to the voters to improve the present home and provide a hospital that would be able to take care of cases of "tuberculosis which now go to Springfield and Dayton hospitals and prove to be a costly burden on all of the townships in the county. If the voters had followed the suggestion, Cedarville twp. trustees would have been several hundred dollars ahead for the present year.

Fayette county has abandoned her county home and "farms out" inmates to private or rest homes and the plan is said to be satisfactory, except in cases that require hospitalization. The Herald pointed out last October that the bond issue for a new county infirmary and hospital should be approved as an economical proposition for the county needed the hospital as well as the infirmary. We mentioned the buildings were fire traps and not safe for young, let alone old folks. The heating system was all but useless and antiquated and using tons of coal more than would be necessary in a more modern system. It was called to the attention of voters that the institution was supported only by taxation and continued use meant continued increase cost of operation. If we recall the cost over a period of years was around $16,000 yearly and we are told the cost reached more than $21,500 for 1945.

The campaign against the infirmary bond issue was carried on secretly by selfish interests that wanted to bond the county for a million or so for a palace public hospital that would require $50,000 or more a year of the taxpayer's money for upkeep alone, to say nothing of meeting the payment of bonds and interest, all of which would come out of the taxpayer's dollar.

The experience Greene county had with the joint tubercular hospital in Dayton some years ago should be the proof needed that we should not get involved in another situation like that. The voters were misled by secret campaign of false information last fall and all of the story has never been made public. We believe the county would today approve the same bond issue if it was submitted for a new modern infirmary and hospital to have the enormous cost each township is now put to in paying outside hospitals for medical care and operations of the unfortunate.

Coal Strike Set For Monday A. M.

John L. Lewis says he will call all 450,000 soft coal miners out on strike Monday. He turned down an offer of 18-1-8 increase in wages because the company would not pay a royalty of 10 cents a ton additional for welfare work among the employees. The operators would under a former agreement pass increased cost to consumers as was done following the last strike. If the government takes over the coal mines as was done previously, increased wages will be granted as well as all other costs and the public will pay the bill.

There is only about a ten day supply of coal on hand for most industries and less than that for consumers.

Scott T. Bowers Resigns At O.S. & S.O.

Scott T. Bowers, formerly of this place and sometime principal of the Ross Twp. schools, has resigned as psychologist at the O.S. & S.O. Home. He will take a similar position with the Veterans' Administration, Dayton.

OSBORN WILL VOTE ON TOWN HALL BOND ISSUE

Osborn will vote on a $15,000 bond issue for a town hall at the primary on May 15, according to action of council. Similar proposals have been defeated the last two years.

GREEN LIGHTS

By MARY FAY BRYSON

There is a place in the center of Xenia that most people have heard of but very few have seen. This is the new library on the second floor of the Court House, occupying the relative space above the Commissioner's and the Auditor's offices.

The library has two rooms, one small and one very large, long, one which are so differently finished and furnished from the rest of the building as to seem in no way related to it. The walls are painted pale green. The hardwood floors are almost covered with plain, green broadloom carpet. The woodwork and bookcases are of mahogany. At the windows Venetian blinds let in the light but screen out the view of Main and Green Streets. Elegant bookcases, eight or more feet high, completely line all walls of both rooms. In the larger one they project in L's as in many libraries to afford more room for more cases in a given space.

A large davenport and heavy, solid mahogany chairs, and several resting chairs as well as many straight ones for study, are in pleasing groups near the four large cherry reading tables. These tables, the only things of cherry in the rooms, are of particular interest because of that fact and also because they were used in the old court house. They are strong and handsomely finished. There is more to that "finish" matter for during the World War I, the library was used for the examination of draftees, who took their turn standing on these same tables to receive their medical examination!

When Harry Swigart, (who has been the law librarian for the last 11 years,) assumed this duty, he found that these rare old tables needed restoring. He started at scratch, which was to remove whatever finish was left. He refurnished the scored tops and then refinished them. They now appear as beautiful as new with no evidence left of their tough war job. That is what one veteran can do for another one!

Mr. Swigart inventoried the library and its furnishings, he found a great many things needing attention. He observed that the woodwork, and the finish of the bookcases, was so hard and so cracked and checked that there was just one thing to do about it. He started by removing the old varnish. If you have tried using a remover and scraping only a small portion of a surface over and over until every particle of the old clinging varnish is loosened, you know what a tedious, difficult job that was. He kept at it week after week until the surface of the lovely wood was again smooth and ready for the next act of restoration.

Mr. Swigart secured from a local paint store, a specially prepared varnish which he applied to the woodwork and all bookcases, not with a quick brush but slowly, painstakingly with fingers and a soft cloth. It is an expertly done job. No missed spots no smears on walls or glass.

One of the causes of cracked varnish is too much dry heat. But this conservation librarian has a remedy for that. On each of the seven heaters and a line of three of the big windows is fitted a long galvanized tank, several inches deep. Each tank holds 8 gallons of water. These are filled once each week which provides sufficient evaporation to keep the air properly moistened. Both thermometer and barometer check this matter.

Now that the air was properly conditioned, Mr. Swigart began to care for the books. Just imagine 3,700 books, each to be checked and hand stamped with "Greene County Law Library" on its page edges.

The books, most of them in sets from a dozen to 500 to a set, are beautiful to see as they stand in orderly rows on their shelves. Most of them are the finest work of designer, paper maker and binder. Some of morocco or cloth, hundreds in hand some tawny, sheepskin, with red and gold labels. All had to be carefully handled because of their beauty and their value. All had to be dusted and properly placed.

Even careful handling of the sheepskin bindings would not be sufficient. Mr. Swigart noticed that the bindings of many of these had become hard, even brittle. Here was a real challenge, a library that would quickly

Three Murder Trials Are On Docket For Common Pleas Court

GREEN LIGHTS

By MARY FAY BRYSON

Two murder trials were continued in Common Pleas Court Tuesday. The first degree murder trial of Ernest Evans, 21 and Charles Tucker, 20, both of Cincinnati, for the slaying of Deputy Sheriff Earl Conter, January 22, have been postponed until April 23.

The pair requested a three judge trial, which was approved by Judge Frank L. Johnson, and Chief Justice Carl V. Weyandt of the Ohio Supreme Court will name the other judges to sit on the case with the lone judge.

The trial of George Dean, owner of the Tavern on Xenia ave., Cedarville, who was indicted on five counts of second degree murder following a shooting episode in his bar on March 1st, has been set for April 9th. Dean is out on bond. Council for Dean requested the later date instead of April 1st.

Recruiting Station Is Open Thursday Here

Col. Franklin N. Greene, Army Recruiting Station Commander, 208 Federal Building, Dayton, with sub-stations in Xenia, and Cedarville, announces that the War Department has directed that effective immediately and continuing until midnight Apr. 7, 1946, a special effort be made to enlist the maximum number of men with previous service in any armed force unit including service organizations with the armed forces, for direct enlistment and assignment to the and the 2nd Armored Division presently located at Camp Hood, Texas. It was announced by Col. Francis A. Kreidel, who further stated that direct enlistment and assignment to the 2nd Armored Division is authorized regardless of period of enlistment. All men enlisting for the 2nd Division will be shipped through reception centers in the usual manner. Grades in which enlistments are accomplished will be governed by current regulations.

Property Owners To Form Organization

The Dayton Real Estate Board will sponsor a public meeting of Dayton and Miami Valley property owners, to formulate a Dayton Chapter of the newly organized National Real Estate Foundation to be held Monday evening April 1st, at the National Club Regatta Schoolhouse at 8 o'clock. Visiting speakers will discuss the effects of government regulations and tax schemes, and the possibilities of further restrictions leading to disadvantages of home ownership. The National Real Estate Foundation is a non-profit, non-political organization, and it proposes to assist the individual owner in a fact finding investigation of real estate taxation and possible trends toward socialization of property ownership.

THE BANKRUPT BOYS HAVE THEIR LUNCH
The "bankrupt boys" had their lunch at a speechmaking after a luncheon of 700 calories of New Deal food in a fashionable hotel in Washington last Friday evening. The event was to pay honor to Thomas Jefferson but to give color to the great Abraham Lincoln, a Republican, who won the Civil War with patriotic northerners against the Democratic south that wanted to continue human slavery and sale of negroes as a necessity for a prosperous nation. How "Abe" would have enjoyed the great tribute paid to him last Friday night at the "Truman poverty" dinner. Press reports the few Democratic Senators at the dinner failed to join in the applause paid Lincoln.

The $100 a-plate stunt was adopted by the late FDR so the Democratic boodle fund could be swelled by gifts and assessments from corporations that received large war contracts. It was a clever way of raising boodle funds. A corporation with a fat war cost-plus contract could take 100 tickets at $100 each and pay for them out of the cost-plus profits. The tickets were then turned over to the Democratic committee for free distribution among the followers that were expected to do the applause work for the benefit of the radio audience. This year the big gravy came from those who sell the surplus war property to favorites.

The dinner of watered soup and imitation dishes garnished in elaborate fashion gave the nation "bankrupt boys" the opportunity of telling the nation how the country should be run. The speeches were all political. Secretary Wallace, a Republican who had no hesitancy in disgracing and decrying the political philosophy of his grandfather or his own father, did the dirty work Friday night that would not bring either Jefferson or Lincoln a serious thought had they been able to hear it. It was one of those "you've got no right to own what I ain't got" speeches. Henry you know had a million dollar publishing business run by his Republican father but crack pot ideas put Iowa bankers in charge and Hen tied to FDR's coat-tail to get a job.

"Bankrupt Harry" who failed as a shirt and sock salesman let the public in on his ideas and experience of how to run the government, with the aid and advice of Phil Murray, and his band of money grabbers by the strike method. If Harry and Hen sold a bill of New Deal goods to the gathering of $100 a-plate, who were expected to whoop up the applause at certain intervals, they failed to sell anything to the press, the radio commentators or even the general public.

Press accounts relate many Southern Congressmen would not attend the dinner with "Mugwump" Hen on the program. Neither are they enamored with "Bankrupt Harry" due to his CIO connection. In contrast Senator Tom Stewart, who spoke at a similar Jackson Day dinner down in Nashville, lashed into the Truman-CIO policies. In other cities we get reports that attendance was far from the standard of former years and at not a single state dinner was Henry, the bankrupt, glorified for his recent blow-off that every Democrat that did not follow orders and vote in Congress as directed should be defeated this fall. The press also says the dinner at the conclusion of the Jefferson day event all made a break for the hotel dining rooms and restaurants, as well as night clubs to get something to eat—some more of the food "Bankrupt Harry" had not ordered sold to the foreign agents that get big profits that the unfortunate in Europe can eat. New Dealer Lehman, Wall Street operator and millionaire banker resigns as head of the United Relief organization because Truman named Herbert Hoover to check up on the European situation. Hoover sends word back that conditions are not as bad as painted by Lehman. Hoover has nothing to sell and only represents Truman. The New Dealers have always capitalized on human misery and misfortune and everything has been done to keep such people on the dole for political purposes.

Not so long ago the writer was in a Springfield business house awaiting the filling of an order. In came a customer that wanted the same kind of material the writer wanted. In the conversation with the head of the certain government surplus property came up. This gentleman stated he had had three different prices on the same milling machine from three different government agents. He was finally told he would have to wait until the sale was confirmed by another government agent in another city. In reply the Springfielder was informed his bid was "O. K." but that the government would not sell less than three such machines to anyone buyer. This was more machinery than was wanted. The buyer was a veteran of World War I and had a son in the last war yet he could not be treated as a self-respected citizen and have equal opportunity of purchasing just what he could use and what he could pay for.

Veterans of World War II are getting their eye-teeth cut on loans to veterans to enter business, purchase a home, etc. Almost daily we hear of complaints of being turned down. Many of the promises of aid are deceptive and cannot be met. A few days ago a veteran who had served more than three years related how he had been treated when he inquired as to financing a home. He had not been out of school long enough to get a profession rating or even that of a mechanic. He wants a home for himself and wife rather than be dependent on relatives. He realizes under the mass of regulations no citizen can erect him a home on the rental payment basis. Millions of other veterans will find for themselves the true story of deception. With an open market more houses could be built by private capital for rental or sale than will ever be erected under the New Deal OPA blackmail system of business men. Time alone will tell the true story and expose the rascals that are trying to use the situation for political purposes and keep certain lines of business under government control that political followers of the administration can profit and continue to purchase $100 tickets by the score to finance the New Deal politicians.

A certain well known farmer was deploring with a tale it was to find protein feeds that could be relied upon to contain something more than synthetics. The writer joined in the group conversation and asked this particular farmer what his views were on the world food situation and what effect the Truman plan would have on feeding both man and beast. His remarks were interesting. He says while we might save a little wheat for the Europeans we are only cutting down our own bread supply and even reducing the production of pork to a greater degree. Then this county will be short on meat and lard with nothing to send abroad.

Continuing this farmer explained his position as a feeder. He had 110 head of hogs weighing 185 pounds that needed plenty of protein feed to push them to a quicker market. But such feed was hard to find other than a few bags at a time that would not care for his herd but a day or so. He admitted on inquiry that he had about 200 bushels of wheat that he was grinding himself for hog feed. We suggested that was hardly in line with the Truman pronouncement. Our suggestion brought a sharp quick answer: "Should I sacrifice my time, labor and profit to feed a lot of European warriors. Mr. Truman cares not about the farmer who is second to the CIO. He has ordered needed farm machinery shipped abroad where no one can operate it and where some American seeds were never known. He thinks more today of the CIO than he does of the Grange or the Farm Bureau. He probably knows as little of George Washington and what he has predicted than a teen age school-boy."

Having heard this we recalled one of George Washington's statements: Against the insidious wiles of foreign influence (I conjure you to believe he, fellow citizens), the jealousies of a free people ought to be constantly awake since history and experience prove that foreign influence is one of the most baneful foes of republican government." So said George Washington in his Farewell address.

John Stolle, national commander of the American Legion issued a statement a few days ago that should be given close study by all classes. He said: "The Federal government shows an increased tendency to break faith with those who served in the armed forces. No where is the evidence more vivid than in regard to disposal of surplus property."

William Treute was the victim of a peculiar accident last week. In a basketball game his jaws and tongue got out of coordination with the result that the latter was so badly cut it took five stitches to mend. For a few days "Bill" has not been as talkative as usual.

Having received marching orders from Dan Cupid, Miss Jeanne Wright, a WAVE still in the service, arrived at home this morning to prepare for a happy event that will take place at the First Presbyterian Church, immediately after morning worship, on Sunday April 7th. The lucky groom-to-be is former Sgt. Harold Lutherie, now employed at Wright Field.

Dr. John W. Bickett, '97, was the speaker at Chapel Tuesday morning. His address on "The Young Man That Lost His Way" was very helpful and forceful. Richard Vayhinger recently acted upon Poor Richard's advice. If you would have your business done, go; if not, send, and found that the adage still holds. He went to Chicago, the items holding his entrance to Chicago University were cleared away and Dick is now busy as a GI student. His brother Robert is still in Utah. Lt. John C. Wright, former OC student, who with his wife have been visiting his mother, Mrs. S. C. Wright and other relatives and friends, left Monday for their home in Long Beach California. They expect to visit relatives in Missouri and other states en route.

Col. and Mrs. L. E. Johnson are standing away to the west after a visit to Juarez, Old Mexico, the Carlsbad Caverns, and other points of interest. This is revealed in cards to her parents. Next to the last stop will be Cedarville as they reach their home in Wheaton, Ill.

More and more folks are coming to realize that when the Bill of Rights was written into our constitution it should have been accompanied by a Bill of Duties. A crying need of the hour is for people to awake to the need of observing this latter.

APPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD C. LYNDGREN, D. D.
The Study Bible, published by the National Bible Society of America

Lesson for March 31

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and arranged by the International Council of Religious Education, used by permission.

A NATION DEMANDS A KING

LESSON TEXT—1 Samuel 8:1-22.
MEMORY SELECTION—Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord.—Psalm 33:12.

A major crisis has come in the life of a nation when it is ready to change its form of government. That was especially true in the case of Israel, for they were about to throw off the direct rule of God and demand a king.

There were good reasons for their desire. Samuel was old. His sons who were to succeed him were not honest (1 Sam. 8:3). But there were other motives not so good for example, for the temple was in a state of decay and the people were like other peoples (v. 20).

Their request was made known to Samuel (1 Sam. 8:6). He was grieved, but the Lord showed him that it was not His rule they were rejecting, but His direct rule (v. 7).

The matter came to a crisis as Samuel was sent to reason with them (v. 9).

I. Prophetic Words (vv. 10-18). There is always a price to pay if we are eager to follow the style of this world. Israel wanted to have a king with an attractive court and a mighty army like the nations, the other nations, but they had not realized that such things are not provided out of the king's pocket.

A word of warning may be in place here for Christians who have fallen for the temptation to keep pace with their worldly neighbors. "Keep up with the Joneses," as it is sometimes put.

Government has a right to call on the governed for its support, but who will deny that the tremendous military establishments which the rulers of the earth have maintained have been both burdensome and provocative of war.

We live in a sinful world, and we may as well face the necessity of protecting ourselves and policing the world, but think how much the ruler would be our lot if we like Israel could have been under the direct rule of God.

They did not want it. Are men any better today when they reject the benevolent rule of the Son of God over their lives?

II. Persistent Wills (vv. 19, 20). The people refused to bearken. Their stubborn reply was, "Nay, but we will have a king over us," and one can almost hear the emphasis on the word "will."

One might have expected that the leaders of the people would have sensed the folly of their plan and asked God to continue to rule over them forever, but the stubbornness of the willful human heart is almost beyond belief. When its determination is coupled with pride and unbelief it becomes an even more appalling barrier to the blessing of God.

Therein lies the outstanding lesson of these verses. Let us beware that we do not sin like Israel; yes, sin even worse than they did. Joseph Parker in the People's Bible (vol. 6, p. 227) makes a fine application of the truth: "Do we condemn them? Let us not be ready with reproach; nor urgent in condemnation. We are doing a deadlier thing if we are than the elders of Israel did in this case. We are saying, 'Go! is angry with the wicked every day; that the wicked shall be driven into hell, and all the nations that forget God. We are told that the liar shall have his portion in the lake which burneth with fire, and the brimstone, that no drunkard shall enter the kingdom of heaven, that anything unclean, defiled or corrupt shall not pass into the city of God's light; we are told that nothing remaineth for the sinner but a fearful looking for of judgment and fiery indignation.'

"What is the result? Men can go immediately from the hearing or reading of the most terrific statements concerning the future of the wicked and can throw themselves with unblinded trust into all the diabolical enjoyments which stimulate but never satisfy the corrupt soul."

III. Providential Willingness (vv. 21, 22). Reluctantly, but inevitably, comes the divine expression of willingness to let man go the way he wants to go. Israel shall have a king, says God. In fact He had prophesied this day long before (see Deut. 17:14-20).

So it is true (to quote Parker again) that "we can force our way through all solemn warnings, all pathetic entreaties, all earnest persuasiveness... We can go to hell if we will... There is nothing before you but love, grace, mercy, tenderness, God. That is all. There is a cross—how it down! There is a way around it, a way through it, a way over it—you can get there!"

May we, neither as individuals nor as a nation, shut God's love and grace out of our stubborn way into sin and sorrow.

GREEN LIGHTS

deberate unless something was done to overcome this condition. Scarcely a book had cost less than $10, and many of them much more than that. He found a milky-white liquid made especially for preserving leather. It contains talcum so finely smelted that the solution is about the thickness of cream, yet not more oily to manipulate than a hand lotion. Using his fingers he patiently massaged hundreds of leather-bound volumes, over and over until gradually the crispness was replaced by a soft velvety texture, not unlike healthy human skin. The findings were thus made known to the county clerks, who should occur about every four years, to keep the bindings soft and pliable.

These are accessible only to "all county lawyers, county officials, all courts of the county and the court of appeals."

Each lawyer has his own key to the library that he may be able to consult the books at his own convenience. In the smaller room is a gas fireplace with a large, mirrored console. Nearby is a wash-bowl, and all about are smoking stands. Truly a man's domain for study.

On the wall are a few framed photographs, one of the old court house, another of a group of lawyers in the old court room. This was a gift from Mrs. M. L. Gowdy.

It is in the larger room that enlarged photographs and two or three oil portraits are arranged, of most of the men who have served as judges in the county.

These portraits when hung on the walls were not easily seen. They were changed to stand erect on top of and at the front of the bookcases flush with the doors. Beneath each portrait is a narrow bronze plaque bearing the name and the dates of service of each judge.

This is said to be one of the finest law libraries in the state of Ohio. It is "sustained by a portion of the fees collected by the courts of the county." Since the death of W. F. Trader in 1927, Attorney J. A. Finney has been the secretary of the Greene County Law Library Association.

The books contain the laws and the history of their application to the lives of the people of this county.

There are: Federal statutes and Ohio statutes, Ohio Appellate Court Reports, Ohio Circuit Court Reports, Ohio Circuit Court Decisions, Ohio Federal Decisions, Ohio Decisions, Ohio Law Abstracts, Ohio Law Reports, Ohio Opinions, Opinions of Attorneys General, Ohio Statutes (12 vol. cloth and leather, price $120), Supreme Court Reports, Automobile Case Reports, History of The Miami Conservancy District etc.

In a special locked case, are old, old volumes of tan leather, of Ohio Session Laws... from 1803. A few of these are reprints, all contain records of our own state of Ohio since its beginning.

From the south end of the library, a metal spiral staircase leads to the third floor of the court house, the attic. Here another large room has been partitioned off at the library's expense, and fitted with sectional bookcases. Here are kept the State Reports of cases.

Just to see the tremendous amount of material necessary to record our laws and the records showing how they are kept... or broken... is impressive. The word law in this county really means something. The reputation of "law-abiding citizens" was not earned in a day.

Mr. Swigart recently resigned his duty as librarian in order to care for the 3rd Division's Employment Office. He has left the library ship-shape for the new librarian, R. Hayes Hamilton, to take charge.

The law library is a dignified, elegant one, where our laws make their home, representing as they do, a bulwark for the honest, a stern reprimand for the wayward, a mailed fist for the one who disregards the rights of property and lives of others.

About 20 years ago a change was made in the type of law records, from the State Report to the Reporter System, in the 7th District. The Greene County Law Library Association decided to trade their old State Report books for the new system. The Association made a deal with a man some distance from this locality, who came very late one day, with his truck to haul the books away. J. A. Finney and J. Kenneth Williamson spent the balance of the afternoon and most of the evening helping to load these books.

Just a few days later, Mr. Finney received a most pathetic letter from the man who trucked away the books. Leaving Xenia so late that evening, he decided to stay all night at Middletown. He parked his truck in a private, locked garage for the night, and planned to leave early next morning. In the night the garage caught fire and burned. So did the man's truck and his load of books. His loss was about $2,000.

The End.

AMERICAN MUSIC IS THEME AT DAR MEETING

"American Music" was the theme for a meeting of Cedar Cliff Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution held at the home of Mrs. M. J. Behn, Springfield, Saturday afternoon when reports of the recent conference of the DAR in Cincinnati were given.

The DAR ritual was conducted by the chaplain, Mrs. Walter Condon. During the business session the regent, Mrs. Raymond Williamson, announced that Rev. and Mrs. Walter Condon had presented a gift of money for the honor roll at Valley Forge in memory of their son, Robert Condon who was killed in action in Germany. It was reported by the good citizenship three Cedarville girls, Joan Whittington, Beatrice Turner and Martha Tannehill were sponsored by the chapter in good citizenship tests recently and the chapter voted to give good citizenship pins to these girls. In memory of Mrs. Anell Wright, a chapter member who died recently, a DAR bronze marker had been purchased by the chapter to be placed on her grave in Jeffersonville Cemetery, Mrs. I.C. Davis announced.

Familiar American songs were featured by Mrs. William Lafferty and Mrs. Albert Mott who sang three duets accompanied by Mrs. Paul Elliott. Their selections were "Morning", "Hills of Home" and "Kentucky Babe". Reports of the state conference were given by Mrs. J. Ervin Kyle, Mrs. Paul Elliott, Mrs. Fred Dobbins, the regent, Mrs. Williamson, and Miss Eleanor Kyle, after which Mrs. Lafferty and Mrs. Mott sang "Sylvia", "By the Bend of the River", "Bless this House" and the DAR song composed by Mrs. Elliott.

A gift was presented to Mrs. Wilson Galloway, a past regent, who is moving soon to California. A social hour closed the meeting with a dessert course, being served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Anna O. Wilson, to twenty-seven members, one former member, Mrs. Wallace Rife of Sayanah, Ohio and several guests.

interference with reconstruction and production of needed goods, but to actually create black markets and promote inflation.

The House last week passed legislation authorizing appropriation of an additional $50 million dollars for the construction of emergency housing and homes for veterans. A similar bill authorizing an appropriation of 471 million dollars for emergency housing for veterans and their families are the best possible answer which can be given to the radicals and demagogues who have been spreading the story Congress is opposed to homes for veterans simply because it refused to permit a bureaucratic agency to pay 600 million dollars in subsidies to a few manufacturers of building materials or prefabricated dwellings, with little or no actual benefit to veterans.

The Grin that Won a War

DON'T LET HIM LOSE IT NOW!

HE WENT INTO BATTLE with a smile and a wise crack... he took all the enemy could throw at him, and suffered in silence when wounded.

We can't let him lose that spirit now. During the endless months of impatient waiting to come home... during the monotonous tour of duty in the armies of occupation... or the long weeks of convalescing... that is when thoughts may weigh heavily on his mind.

We at home helped him keep his chin up. When he's back, proudly wearing the little gold eagle, emblem of an honorable discharge... will that grin fade? Will that happy-go-lucky smile change to bitterness as he tries to adapt himself to civilian life? The grin that won a global war can win a private one and the Red Cross stands ready to help wherever need for its counsel and guidance exists.

Through the long, gruelling years of war the Red Cross reached across the sea and extended a friendly hand to our fighting forces... and those returning home can find in every local chapter the same spirit of helpfulness.

YOUR Red Cross MUST CARRY ON... GIVE!
